NEWS RELEASE

KIDS ON THE MOVE EXTENDS SERVICES TO OLDER CHILDREN WITH AUTISM

Children with Autism Can Now Receive Affordable Help with KOTM's New Bridges Program

Kids On the Move has a new program available to children ages 3-to-5 years old who have an Autism Spectrum Disorder or similar developmental delay. This is the first time in their 24 year history that KOTM services will be available to children in this age group. This new program, called "Bridges Autism Services" is currently enrolling children.

Kids On The Move has an established track record serving children with Autism, according to Jessica Weipert, mother of Carson who is currently receiving services. Weipert says, "Kids On The Move has really helped my son Carson to progress in his development. My provider Aubrey has not only helped Carson, but has been able to help me understand his needs. I just adore Kids On The Move."

"There are a variety of good services available to preschoolers with Autism," said Eileen Chamberland, Executive Director of Kids On The Move. "However, because of the explosion in the number of children with Autism or similar disorders, all systems are stretched to meet the need. Kids On The Move is helping by offering a unique menu of services from which families can choose, based on their child's individual needs. Our goal is to give families affordable options so their child can make the best progress possible in the critical preschool period. "

Bridges focuses on five areas of service: (1) preschool and socially focused playgroups which include both the children and parents; (2) in-home services with an autism specialist in an individually designed program; (3) a materials lending library so parents can save money on the special toys and learning materials needed by children with Autism; and (4) a series of classes to give parents the information they need to help their child and (5) professional, in-depth assessment to determine the starting point for a child's progress and to guide future developmental goals. Families may choose any combination of options.

Laurie Bowen, Bridges Program Director, states "While we know some families will want comprehensive services from KOTM, our services are not exclusive. For instance, we are happy if a family wants only to borrow materials or only to participate in our social skills group. We want to provide reasonably priced services to help families."
